

*At times I feel the winds of illness
have made a barren landscape of my life.*

I can no longer see mountains to be climbed in the distance.

But then I look around me and I realize that I am soaring above the mountains.

They look so small from my new perspective.

- Judith Garrett Garrison & Scott Shepherd